The game will start in Battlezone by default. To switch between Battlezone and Super Breakout, press the Select button on your controller. Caution: pressing Select will end the current game and switch immediately to the other game.

Battlezone

Prepare yourself for the ultimate challenge. Destroy your opponents using a state-of-the-art battle tank with mind-numbing destructive power. Place the crosshairs over the helpless enemy tank and blow it to oblivion.

Super Breakout

You'll have hours of challenging fun with Super Breakout! Faster and more challenging wall crumbling action than you've ever experienced before. Careful, you may be in for more than you bargained for!

GETTING STARTED

1. Turn OFF the power switch on your Nintendo Game Boy™. Never insert or remove a Game Pak when the power is on.
2. Insert the Battlezone/Super Breakout game cartridge into the slot on the back of the Game Boy. To lock the Game Pak in place, press firmly.

HOW TO PLAY BATTLEZONE®

Battlezone is a tank simulation game in which you use both visual and radar information to hunt down and destroy enemy Tanks, Super Tanks, Missiles and Flying Saucers. The Radar, located in the upper right of the main display, will show enemy tank positions and imminent threats.

Scoring

Battlezone awards big points to celebrate your big victories.

TANK
1000 points

MISSILE
2000 points

SUPER TANK
3000 points

FLYING SAUCER
5000 points

Additional Scoring Information

- You start off with three lives (or tanks). Battlezone awards you two additional tanks: one at 15,000 points and one at 100,000 points.
- Enemy tank fire can destroy flying saucers, but you don't get points for this.
- High scores are displayed at the end of each game.
- If you reach 1,000,000 points, Battlezone resets your score to zero.

BATTLEZONE®

STRATEGY AND HINTS

- Keep your tank moving and turning. Enemy tanks aim at where you are, not at where you are going.
- Hide behind cubes and pyramids, but remember that blocks are too low to offer protection.
- Use the radar scope to locate your enemies.
- Aim carefully with your gun sight. Once you fire, you can't fire again until your shell hits an object or disappears into the horizon.
- Listen for the booming sound of an enemy's tank firing. When you hear this warning, move away from the line of fire and launch an attack before the enemy tank can fire again.
- Never drive straight toward an enemy tank. You'll put yourself in the line of fire. Use wide arching turns or a zigzagging path.
- Take advantage of enemy collisions. After an enemy tank runs into an obstruction, it must back away and set a new course. This gives you time to aim and fire.
- Missiles alter their course randomly as they travel towards you, so don't fire at them immediately.

HOW TO PLAY

SUPER[®] BREAKOUT

The object of Super Breakout is to score the highest amount of points possible.

Points are scored by hitting the ball into the rows of bricks on the screen using the Paddle. The bricks disappear from the screen when hit, one at a time. The point value of the bricks in all games is defined by row (or color when displayed on the Super NES using the Super Game Boy Adapter).

ROWS 1-2
1 point

ROWS 3-4
3 points

ROWS 5-6
5 points

ROWS 7-8
7 points

The ball will speed up after hitting any bricks in the last four rows. Whenever you break through the last row of bricks and the ball makes contact with the boundary at the top of the play field, the paddle is reduced to half it's original size. The paddle returns to normal size when a new turn begins. Each turn ends when the ball is missed and disappears off of the bottom of the screen.

SUPER BREAKOUT®

To choose a game variation, press the Control Pad left or right, then press Start to begin the game.

Breakout

This game (like the others in the Super Breakout Game Pak) is for one player.

Each wall of bricks contains 8 rows with 14 bricks in a row. If you knock out all the bricks (within five turns), a new wall of bricks will appear on the screen. Each wall of bricks is worth 448 points.

Note: There is no limit to the number of times a new wall of bricks can be reset during a game.

Progressive

The playfield in PROGRESSIVE is set up somewhat differently than BREAKOUT. When the game begins the playfield contains 4 rows of bricks at the top of the screen, followed by 4 blank rows, and then 4 more rows of bricks. The point value for the bricks is determined by row, as in BREAKOUT.

After game play begins, the brick walls move down or 'scroll' toward the bottom of the screen at a rate determined by the number of times the ball is hit. As the bricks are knocked out and the walls progressively move down toward the paddle, new bricks enter the playfield at a progressively faster rate. Four rows of bricks are always separated by four rows of blanks.

BRICKS THAT SCROLL OFF THE BOTTOM OF THE SCREEN ARE LOST AND ARE NOT COUNTED FOR OR AGAINST THE PLAYER'S SCORE.

The maximum attainable score for PROGRESSIVE is infinite.

Double

The DOUBLE playfield is the same as the BREAKOUT playfield except that there are two paddles and two balls served. The paddles are stacked one on top of the other. The point value of the bricks is defined by row (or color if the Super Game Boy Adapter is used) and is essentially the same as the other games except when there are two balls in play. When two balls are in play, each brick is worth twice or double its normal amount.

If the first ball served is missed, it counts as a missed serve or turn and goes against the player's allotted serves per game. Otherwise, the second ball is served. If the second ball is missed (after the first ball is hit), play still continues until the first ball is missed. After both balls are in play (have been hit at least once), one may be missed while the other remains in play.

Note: There is no limit to the number of times a new wall of bricks can be reset during a game.

Cavity

This playfield contains slightly fewer bricks to make room for two 'cavities,' each of which contains a ball. When the game begins, the balls bounce inside each cavity but are held captive for the time being while a third ball is served. There are two paddles, the same as in DOUBLE.

Point values of the bricks are the same as the other games when one ball is in play. When enough bricks are removed to release a captive ball, each brick is then worth twice its normal amount when hit. If the third ball is freed, bricks are then worth triple their normal amount when hit. If any one of the balls is missed and lost, the score returns to double points. If the second ball is missed and only one ball remains in the playfield, the point value of the bricks returns to normal.

Note: There is no limit to the number of times a new wall of bricks can be reset during a game.

USING YOUR SUPER GAME BOY

Correctly insert the Game Boy Game Pak into the Super Game Boy. Next, insert the Super Game Boy into the Super NES and move the power switch on the Super NES to the ON position.

For further operation information, please consult your Super Game Boy and Super NES instruction booklets.

Game play on the Super NES using the Super Game Boy adapter. Both sold separately.

This Game Pak has been specially designed to allow enhanced graphics when using the Super Game Boy. Game controls have been pre-set so that the A, B, Start and Select Buttons on your Super NES Controller correspond to the same controls on the Game Boy. If you want to change the controller settings or the colors set for this game, consult your Super Game Boy instruction booklet.
