A PORTENT OF DOOM

Darwin had a dream of the future one night while asleep. In this dream, he saw a meteor coming to Earth and destroying all life on the planet. Darwin awoke from this dream with the knowledge that he must do something about it, for the good of all Ape-kind.

He knew that he would have a hard time convincing the villagers, but he attempted to do so anyway. In the end, only five of them answered his call. His goal was to find the keys to evolution, which would allow their kind to find a way to avoid this catastrophe.

Can Darwin and his small group of volunteers find the keys and save his tribe? Or will they perish when Darwin's dreamt of prophecy came to fruition?

GETTING STARTED

To start Darwin, press the START Button at the Title Screen. If you have not played before, choose New Game, then select your difficulty level. The difficulty affects the damage the various enemies in the game will do, and the speed of development of your Village.

In order to continue your game, the game will create a profile when you first save the game. This is done by going to Darwin's House from the Village screen and then selecting the Save option. You must do this each time you wish to save the game.

In order to load data, you may go to the Continue option on the Main Menu, then choose the desired save from this menu.

MAIN MENU

This is the Main Menu for Darwin. To begin a new game select the New Game option and press the X button. From here you may also Continue a saved game, view your discoveries in the Picture Book, or go to the Settings Menu.

Star - This star will increase the number of followers in your party. A Yellow Star will increase your current and maximum followers by one, and a Red Star will increase your current followers by one, but will not raise it above the maximum.

Item - There are many various items out in the wilderness that your followers can pick up and carry. These items can be brought back to the Village in order to improve it, and after a certain amount of items, your Village will level up, providing new buildings and advantages.

Enemies and Items

(insert pictures of enemies and items, art if possible, screenshots from Picture Book if not)

Rabbits - These hopping creatures tend to be peaceful little vegetarians, but sometimes, some of them will become aggressive and make quick leaping charges at hapless passer-by.

Tigers - These predators will prowl their territory, clawing and pouncing at anything foolish enough to wander across its path

Worms - Worms generally bide their time underground, happy making tunnels and living out their lives. They don't much like apes walking around above them though, and will pop out of the ground to whip at at the primates.

Fish - These water dwelling creatures aren't happy that anything ever crawled out of their ancestral homes to live on the ground. They show their displeasure by spitting compact balls of water at anyone that they consider "above" them.

Hint: There are many more creatures out there, which only exploration will uncover. You may even discover new super-beast versions of normal creatures in your travels!

Meat, Fruit, Mushrooms - These edible foodstuff will have various effects on Darwin and the party. Meat will restore health, while fruits and mushrooms are more unpredictable. Some of these will regain health, others will speed up the party, while still others could poison the party, causing damage or numbing the group.

Traps - These items are laid down by you and deal damage to enemies that walk into them. A nice way of getting the job done without getting your hands dirty.

Spices - Gives your party a little pep, which gets rid of any status effects that may have been affecting them.
