INTRODUCTION

*No Mission Too Difficult
No Sacrifice Too Great
Duty First*

— 1st Infantry Division motto

The First Expeditionary Division was officially organized on June 8, 1917, and the initial units sailed to Europe the following week. On July 6th, the unit was officially designated as the 1st Infantry Division. On the morning of October 23, the first American shells were launched in World War I. Two days later, the first American casualties of the war were suffered. Both were from the 1st.

Nicknamed the "Big Red One" for its distinctive patch prominently worn on the left shoulder, the Fighting First was the first American unit deployed to the Western Front in World War II. They were the first to liberate a European town, and the first to take a German city.

They faced off against Rommel's Afrika Korps, attacked Mussolini's Italian Corps armies, repelled the Hermann Göring Panzer Division and stormed Hitler's Fortress Europa. They were ordinary soldiers asked to overcome extraordinary challenges. They are the Big Red One.

In Call of Duty 2: Big Red One, you will fight side by side with your squad as history comes alive. Following the Fighting First into Africa, Sicily and Normandy, you'll need your buddies around you, and they'll need you. That's what war is about, and it's what Call of Duty 2: Big Red One is all about.

In war, no one fights alone.

PROFILE MANAGER

After starting Call of Duty 2: Big Red One, you'll see the Profile Manager screen. If this is your first time playing, create a new profile by selecting an empty slot with the directional buttons and pressing the  button. Use the directional buttons to move the cursor and press the  button to select your profile name. When finished, select the door icon on the lower right of the screen.

PLAYING THE GAME

SINGLE PLAYER

"Once more the Big Red One was to carry the heavy end of our stick."
— Lieutenant General Omar Bradley, commander of the U.S. First Army

In the single player campaign, you play as an untested Private in the Big Red One. Thrown into combat for the first time, you'll learn to rely on your squad to survive. The success of your squad and the completion of your mission depend on how well you move, how well you shoot and, perhaps most importantly, how well you keep your wits about you.

Each mission starts with a briefing from your commanding officer, explaining the current situation and mission goals. Listen carefully—this information may save your life.

SQUAD MEMBERS

Sgt. Glenn "Hawk" Hawkins—Born and raised in Duluth, Minnesota, Sgt. Hawkins supported his mother and two sisters through high school after their father headed off to work one morning and never returned. He has a stoic demeanor and is known as a man of few words. Sgt. Hawkins does have a dry wit that occasionally surfaces, helping him bond with his men. At age 31, he's very strong from years of manual labor in the steel mills.

Pvt. Alvin "Brooklyn" Bloomfield—Despite his nickname, Pvt. Bloomfield, 22 years old, was born and raised in the Bronx. He was the youngest of a large Jewish family where his mother kept the house while his father ran a small neighborhood market. A huge baseball fan, Pvt. Bloomfield would skip school whenever possible to watch his idol Joe DiMaggio play ball. He freely admits he "ain't got the smarts" and says he enlisted so he wouldn't have to go to college. He originally wanted to join the Air Force but was too short.

Pvt. Stephen Kelly—Originally from Bridgeport, Connecticut, Pvt. Kelly led an affluent life as the only child of a highly respected surgeon. Graduating at the top of his class, he went on to study English and French literature at Yale University before being drafted after his second year at school. Ever since he was a kid, Pvt. Kelly loved to read, and has diligently kept a detailed journal of his thoughts. A thin 20-year-old kid with a pale complexion and red hair, Pvt. Kelly is in relatively good shape and wears glasses.

Pvt. Victor "Vic" Denley—Denley spent his formative years in the small town of Jean, Texas, (population 300) where his father was a mechanic who ran the local filling station. He attended high school nearby in Wichita Falls, and while he never made much of a mark with his grades, he made one hell of a linebacker for the state-ranked Bulldogs. He enlisted the first day he could with the full intention of "tearin' off Hitler's mustache and shovin' it up his..." Despite his enthusiasm, he's also a notoriously bad shot—it once took him an entire clip to hit a practice target that was only 45 feet away. At age 25, Pvt. Denley has tree trunk legs and a thick torso to match.

Lt. Norman Delaney—Originally from Chicago, Lt. Delaney was a born leader. His father, a decorated WWI Lieutenant, encouraged his son to take on the challenge of West Point's demanding curriculum. He quickly excelled there, and became obsessed with the tactics of war. One thing that sets Lt. Delaney apart is his ability to somehow remember the names and stories of every single grunt under his command. This personal touch engenders confidence in his men.

Pvt. John Jackson "Schmitt" Smith—Born and raised just outside of Cleveland, Pvt. Smith was always good with his hands. His father worked in a bank and his mother was an elementary school teacher, but Smith was never happy unless he was fixing a piece of machinery. Long before the war in Europe, Pvt. Smith was stationed as a mechanic in an Artillery Division where he fixed guns and vehicles for several years. However, the 1st Infantry needed replacements, and he suddenly found himself heading to battle without a single day of combat training. Pvt. Smith was in pretty good shape at age 28 when the war started, but his time behind the scenes fixing busted up machinery has left him a bit doughy.

SAVING & LOADING

To save a game, you'll need at least 42KB of free space available on your memory card (8 MB) (for PlayStation®2). To check your free memory and/or delete existing games, use the PlayStation®2 Internal Memory Card Manager.

Temporary checkpoints are available throughout each mission as you progress. A message appears when these automatic checkpoints are reached.

If you die, you can restart at the last checkpoint passed. Once a mission has been completed, it unlocks on the Single Player Chapter Select screen. If you quit during a mission, you'll restart at the beginning of that mission the next time you play. Each profile has its progress saved separately.

Difficulty Level— Choose between Easy, Normal or Hard difficulties when starting a new game.

IN-GAME DISPLAY

Compass— The compass is useful for navigating your surroundings and getting your bearings. Your current objective is displayed as a star, which gets closer to the center of the compass as you approach it. The small green arrows indicate your allies and the direction they're facing. The small red dots show the locations of nearby enemies, though only when they make their presence known.

Stance Indicator— The icon displays the figure as standing, crouching or prone depending on the stance selected.

Action Text and Icon— Whenever you're standing near an item that can be picked up or used, this icon appears along with a description of your possible actions. This includes picking up health or weapons, operating a stationary gun or getting into a vehicle.

Health Bar—This bar indicates your current health status. The bar reduces in size as you lose health. Once the bar is empty, you're officially killed in action. Throughout your journey you'll encounter various types of health kits. Walk over a health kit or get near it and press the  button to pick it up for a quick boost of health.

Ammunition Counter—The box above the health bar is your ammunition counter. The first number indicates the number of rounds in your current weapon's clip. The second number indicates the total number of available bullets for the current weapon. The number of remaining grenades is shown above the ammunition counter.

Crosshair—Use your crosshair to aim your weapon. When you run or walk, the crosshair widens, indicating the lack of accuracy that comes from attempting to aim while moving. The wider the crosshair, the less accurate your shots will be. When you stop moving, you automatically steady your weapon and the crosshair narrows. It's often wisest to fire when completely stopped to ensure accurate shots. Crouching or lying prone also keeps the crosshair focused, and it's advisable to use these positions whenever possible.

Damage Indicator—Anytime you take damage, a red marker appears around the center of the screen, indicating the direction from which you're being attacked.

Mission Objectives—Throughout your campaign, mission objectives change dramatically depending on the situation. Press the  button to show your mission objectives and get a status on each one. Incomplete or in-progress mission objectives appear in green text. Completed mission objectives appear in grayed-out text.

MOVEMENT

Walking and Running—Though walking is slower than running, walking allows you to shoot more accurately (your crosshair doesn't widen as much as when running). Move the left analog stick slightly to walk, or move it all the way to run.

Looking/Turning Around—Move the right analog stick to look around without moving. Keep in mind that you can adjust your horizontal and vertical sensitivity from the Controls screen found in the Options menu.

Crouching and Going Prone—As soon as you enter your first battle, you'll find that a soldier who stands around often winds up dead. A shrewd player makes use of both the crouch and prone stance positions in the thick of battle to keep cover, avoid enemy fire and move without exposing himself to danger. Keep in mind that while crouched or prone, you'll be harder to hit, but won't move as fast as when standing. Additionally, when prone, you'll crawl on your belly at a very slow pace and won't be able to fire at all while moving.

Jumping—Press the  button while standing to perform a jump. Use this maneuver to navigate the terrain or reach areas that would otherwise be inaccessible.

WEAPON CONTROLS

Firing Your Weapon—To fire your currently selected weapon, press the R1 button. Some weapons are fully automatic (they continue to fire as long as you hold the R1 button) and some are semi-automatic or have single-shot capabilities (each press of the R1 button produces a shot). In general, it's best to fire the automatic weapons in short bursts to increase your accuracy.

Ammo and Reloading—If a weapon runs out of ammo, you'll automatically reload. You can perform a manual reload at any time by pressing the □ button, as long as you have extra ammo for that weapon. You won't lose the bullets in a partially full clip when you reload, so it's often safest to have a fully loaded clip at all times. If you're running low on ammo, pick up extra ammo from a fallen comrade's weapon of the same type by walking over it. You can also use weapons from fallen enemy troops.

Aiming Down the Sight (ADS)—To aim down the sight, press the L1 button. This brings the weapon up from your hip to your face so you can look down the sight (or look through the scope in the case of scoped rifles). Aiming down the sight gives you a slight zoom effect, enabling you to be significantly more accurate. However, when aiming down the sight, you move slower than normal. ADS can be performed on many mounted MGs and other turrets.

Leaning—To lean, press the ← or → directional button. The ability to lean around corners and obstacles is essential to your survival. Leaning minimizes your exposure in potentially dangerous situations and allows you to look into rooms, around corners and otherwise peek from behind cover to survey the situation. You can also fire while leaning, though you can still be seen and fired upon.

Throwing Grenades—Toss a grenade by pressing the L2 button. Be careful of the large blast radius; you can easily hurt nearby allies or yourself. Grenades are highly effective at scattering groups of enemy troops or forcing them to abandon their cover. You can "cook" the grenade by pressing and holding the L2 button for a few seconds before releasing it. This allows you to time the explosion so the enemy won't be able to escape or throw the grenade back. M2 fragmentation grenades have a slightly unpredictable fuse that lasts roughly four seconds, so be sure you've tossed it before then!

Melee Attack— Sometimes the proximity of your enemies makes it difficult to aim your weapon and defend yourself properly. For these close-quarter situations, you have a melee attack that allows you to strike the enemy at close range with the butt end of your weapon. Press the R2 button for a melee attack.

Swapping Weapons— You can usually only carry two weapons at a time (not including grenades). If you see a weapon you want to pick up, walk over to it until you see the weapon pick-up icon, then press the X button to pick the item up. If you already have two weapons in your inventory, you'll be swapping your current weapon for the new one.

Switching Weapons— You can quickly switch between your weapons by pressing the ↑ and ↓ directional buttons.

Deploying Machine Guns— Throughout the game you'll come across machine guns with bipods. Although these weapons are hard to shoot while moving, you can deploy the bipod, which greatly increases their accuracy but prevents you from moving. To deploy the bipod, get down to the prone position and press the L1 button. Pressing the L1 button again retracts the bipod and allows you to move normally.

Stationary Weapons— To use a stationary weapon (such as an MG42), move up to the weapon until you see the stationary weapon icon. Press the X button to mount the weapon and fire with the R1 button. Press the X button again to dismount from the weapon. Many weapons will eventually overheat after lengthy firing periods. Be sure to lay off the trigger to allow the barrel to cool down.

Commanding a Tank— The use of armor in combat can often turn the tide of battle. Without tank support, infantry is completely vulnerable to enemy fire. While in a tank, press the R1 button for the main cannon, and press the R2 button for the coaxial machine gun. Use the right analog stick to rotate the turret and use the left analog stick to move the tank itself. Press the L1 button to toggle your view to inside the tank.

SETUP

"The trouble with the Big Red One is that it thinks the U.S. Army consists of the 1st Infantry Division and ten million replacements."

—Anonymous

Ready to bring the war against opponents from around the world? To play Call of Duty 2: Big Red One online, you'll need a Network Adaptor® (Ethernet/modem) (for PlayStation®2) and an Internet service provider. Before playing online, a valid network configuration file must be created and saved to the memory card (8MB) (for PlayStation®2) using the Network Adaptor Start-up disc.

GETTING INTO THE GAME

Once your hardware is connected and properly configured, you're ready to go online. Select Multiplayer from the Main Menu. Select your valid network configuration setting and then

VOICE CHAT

Depending on the game type, during multiplayer games you'll be able to chat with your teammates. Once you connect your USB headset to the PlayStation®2 computer entertainment system, the voice chat function is automatically activated. The voice chat feature uses a proximity detection system, so you'll only be able to talk to or hear players within your general area.

You can change your gameplay and other settings from this menu.

PLAYING THE GAME

The Multiplayer game controls are the same as those for Single Player, with a few additions. Press the ■ button to bring up the scoreboard. Pressing the ▶ button brings up the In-Game menu with the following options:

- Select Weapon—Select the weapon you want from the available weapons. You will get the new weapon once you've been killed and respawned. Each side has their own selection of weapons.

The host can also kick a player if the need arises.
- Call Vote—Selecting Call Vote allows a player to call a vote to kick a player, change the map or change the game type. All players will be notified when a vote has been called.

- Suicide—If the worst should happen, use this option to kill your player.
- Quit—Exit the game to the Multiplayer main menu.

Sprinting—Press and hold the L3 button to sprint. The stance indicator displays how much sprint time is remaining. Once your stamina is depleted, you'll automatically stop sprinting and the indicator will slowly refill. You cannot fire your weapon while sprinting.

BATTLEFIELD PROMOTIONS

Multiplayer games feature a battlefield promotion system that rewards players for their individual and team-based success. New ranks are awarded when you achieve a certain number of points, which are given for achieving objectives, leading or assisting the capture of a flag and killing enemies. As your rank increases, you will be able to carry more equipment (i.e., more grenades, ammo) as well as get access to special weapons listed below. Note that different weapon load-outs have different rank rewards, and higher ranks have faster recharge times on the special weapons.

- Artillery Strike—You can use the binoculars to call in an artillery strike. Equip the binoculars, go into ADS mode, aim where you want the strike and press the R1 button.
- Health Pack—Once fully recharged, select the health pack and press R1 to drop it to heal yourself or your teammates.
- Ammo Pack—Once fully recharged, select the ammo pack and press R1 to drop it to restock your or your teammate's ammo.
- Satchel Charge—Once fully recharged, select the satchel charge and pull the right trigger to throw it. They are significantly more powerful than grenades and can also be "cooked."

HELPFUL TIPS

Nobody Makes It Alone—Success in Call of Duty 2: Big Red One relies on a well-coordinated and cooperative squad. Your squadmates help fight the enemy by providing cover fire and assisting to eliminate threats. Above all, listen to your squad leader! Do exactly what he says, and you'll stay alive.

Know When to Be the Hero—The soldier who runs into the thick of battle with guns ablaze often winds up dead. Although you'll frequently be called upon to make split-second decisions, a levelheaded and patient warrior is the one who returns home to his family. Remember that a deadly threat could be lurking around any corner, wall, window or rock. Stay alert, move deliberately and don't try anything stupid.

Use Cover—Every battle environment you encounter will have a range of available locations to keep out of sight and out of the path of incoming bullets. Crouch and crawl behind solid cover as much as possible—you never know when new threats will spot you, and you can be sure Gerry won't hesitate to shoot you down in your tracks.

Stay Mobile—Think you found a good spot for cover? That may change in a matter of seconds. Although pausing to regroup, assess threats, reload weapons or replenish health is always necessary, don't stay in one location for too long. You never know when the enemy may discover you and compromise what you thought was a safe location. If you hear artillery or mortar fire in the distance, stay mobile. You may not survive if a stray shell lands near you.

Be Thorough—Clear buildings and combat areas with a meticulous and thorough search. Enemies may lie in silence, waiting for you or your squad to get careless. Be prepared to expect just about anything behind every door.

Reloading—Always reload your weapon after a firefight so you can be as prepared as possible for the next engagement. Another enemy could be just around the corner, and entering a conflict with low ammunition could cost you your life.

Leaning—When progressing through combat areas, use your Leaning ability to peer around walls, doors, windows and other obstacles. You'll be harder to see and harder to shoot should enemies be on the other side. You can also lean around obstacles to fire on the enemy, getting the jump on your targets and suppressing threats as quickly and safely as possible.

Stance—Be mindful of your stance at all times. Soldiers that walk tall on the battlefield often find themselves coming home in a box. Crouching or lying prone keeps your profile low, making you harder to see, and more importantly, harder to shoot.

Grenades—Using grenades to soften up enemy positions will often be the difference between success and failure. Although you have an extremely limited supply at the onset of a mission, enemy grenades can sometimes be found in the battlefield.

Sprinting—In multiplayer-only games, master the ability to sprint from cover point to cover point. Practice crouching behind cover, standing up, sprinting to another cover point, then quickly crouching or lying prone. Enemies may fire at you, but your speed makes you a more difficult target to hit.

Multiplayer Vehicles—Learn the nuances of the vehicles, as well as the map choke points that can allow a well-equipped bazooka-toting soldier to disable your vehicle. Always remember that a single cunning enemy can destroy the most powerful tank.

ACTIVISION

FIREWALL

In order to join or host an Call of Duty® 2: Big Red One game from behind a router with NAT (Network Address Translation), or firewall, you may need to enable PORT FORWARDING. You will need to route, or forward, all data on port UDP Port 5165 to the IP address assigned to your PlayStation®2 console. (Note: Users using DHCP must ensure that their PlayStation®2 console is always assigned the IP address specified in the PORT FORWARDING setup; under these circumstances you may need to change your PlayStation®2 from "Auto Detect (DHCP)" to a "Static IP" address using the Network Configuration GUI or Network Adaptor Start-Up Disc to ensure that forwarded data always gets to your PlayStation®2 console.)

If you are still having trouble connecting to other players, try bypassing the router or firewall by connecting your PlayStation®2 console directly to you DSL modem, cable modem or other broadband device.

For further questions, please contact Activision's Customer Service support department: (310)255-2050 or www.activision.com/support.

Software License Agreement

USE OF THIS PROGRAM IS SUBJECT TO THE SOFTWARE LICENSE TERMS SET FORTH BELOW. "PROGRAM" INCLUDES THE SOFTWARE INCLUDED WITH THIS AGREEMENT, THE ASSOCIATED MEDIA, ANY PRINTED MATERIALS, AND ANY ON-LINE OR ELECTRONIC DOCUMENTATION, AND ANY AND ALL COPIES AND DERIVATIVE WORKS OF SUCH SOFTWARE AND MATERIALS. BY OPENING THIS PACKAGE, AND/OR USING THE PROGRAM, YOU ACCEPT THE TERMS OF THIS LICENSE WITH ACTIVISION, INC. ("ACTIVISION").

LIMITED USE LICENSE. Activision grants you the non-exclusive, non-transferable, limited right and license to use one copy of this Program solely and exclusively for your personal use. All rights not specifically granted under this Agreement are reserved by Activision. This Program is licensed, not sold. Your license confers no title or ownership in this Program and should not be construed as a sale of any rights in this Program.

OWNERSHIP. All title, ownership rights and intellectual property rights in and to this Program and any and all copies thereof (including but not limited to any titles, computer code, themes, objects, characters, character names, stories, dialog, catch phrases, locations, concepts, artwork, animation, sounds, musical compositions, audio-visual effects, methods of operation, moral rights, and any related documentation, incorporated into this Program) are owned by Activision or its licensors. This Program is protected by the copyright laws of the United States, international copyright treaties and conventions and other laws. This Program contains certain licensed materials and Activision's licensors may protect their rights in the event of any violation of this Agreement.

YOU SHALL NOT:

- Exploit this Program or any of its parts commercially, including but not limited to use at a cyber cafe, computer gaming center or any other location-based site. Activision may offer a separate Site License Agreement to permit you to make this Program available for commercial use; see the contact information below.
- Sell, rent, lease, license, distribute or otherwise transfer this Program, or any copies of this Program, without the express prior written consent of Activision.
- Reverse engineer, derive source code, modify, decompile, disassemble, or create derivative works of this Program, in whole or in part.
- Remove, disable or circumvent any proprietary notices or labels contained on or within the Program.
- Export or re-export this Program or any copy or adaptation in violation of any applicable laws or regulations.

LIMITED WARRANTY. Activision warrants to the original consumer purchaser of this Program that the recording medium on which the Program is recorded will be free from defects in material and workmanship for 90 days from the date of purchase. If the recording medium is found defective within 90 days of original purchase, Activision agrees to replace, free of charge, any product discovered to be defective within such period upon its receipt of the Product, postage paid, with proof of the date of purchase, as long as the Program is still being manufactured by Activision. In the event that the Program is no longer available, Activision retains the right to substitute a similar program of equal or greater value. This warranty is limited to the recording medium containing the Program as originally provided by Activision and is not applicable to normal wear and tear. This warranty shall not be applicable and shall be void if the defect has arisen through abuse, mistreatment, or neglect. Any implied warranties prescribed by statute are expressly limited to the 90-day period described above.

EXCEPT AS SET FORTH ABOVE, THIS WARRANTY IS IN LIEU OF ALL OTHER WARRANTIES, WHETHER ORAL OR WRITTEN, EXPRESS OR IMPLIED, INCLUDING ANY WARRANTY OF MERCHANTABILITY, FITNESS FOR A PARTICULAR PURPOSE OR NON-INFRINGEMENT, AND NO OTHER REPRESENTATIONS OR CLAIMS OF ANY KIND SHALL BE BINDING ON OR OBLIGATE ACTIVISION.

When returning the Program for warranty replacement please send the original product disks only in protective packaging and include: (1) a photocopy of your dated sales receipt; (2) your name and return address typed or clearly printed; (3) a brief note describing the defect, the problem(s) you are encountered and the system on which you are running the Program; (4) if you are returning the Program after the 90-day warranty period, but within one year after the date of purchase, please include check or money order for $20 U.S. currency per disc replacement. MISCELLANEOUS. This Agreement represents the complete agreement concerning this license between the parties and supersedes all prior agreements and representations between them. It may be amended only by a writing executed by both parties. If any provision of this Agreement is held to be unenforceable for any reason, such provision shall be reformed only to the extent necessary to make it enforceable and the remaining provisions of this Agreement shall not be affected. This Agreement shall be construed under California law as such law is applied to agreements between California residents entered into and to be performed within California, except as governed by federal law and you consent to the exclusive jurisdiction of the state and federal courts in Los Angeles, California. If you have any questions concerning this license, you may contact Activision at 3100 Ocean Park Boulevard, Santa Monica, California 90405, (310) 255-2000, Attn.
