Everyday in the great Roman Colosseum, the Emperor presides over the battles of gladiators. Those who fight are humble people, struggling in battle and risking their lives for their freedom.

A.D. 180. After the wise Emperor Marcus Aurelius died, and his son Commodus ascended to the throne, the Empire began to lose its prestige. Then, in 192 A.D., Commodus declares that he is the "Incarnation of Hercules" and begins showing his madness by entering the gladiatorial ring... as a fighter. His foolish actions make many people anxious about the Empire's future, but Commodus is determined to fight. He begins to challenge stronger and stronger gladiators...

Gladiator Styles and Rankings

There are various ranks among the gladiators, and you start at the lowest ranking. You can increase the ranking by gaining popularity from the audience during battle. You can also change the style of your gladiator by choosing different kinds of arms and protection.

Four Basic Styles

Sword Style

This is the standard style, where you fight with a sword in your right hand. You can move quickly, but lack full protection. This style can be played with a small shield as well.

Two Hand Style

You have two weapons, one in each hand. This style enables continuous attack, but since you do not have a shield, bodily protection is minimal.

Shield Style

Hold a sword in the right hand, and a large shield in the left hand. This style enables whole body protection, but you cannot move quickly because of the weight of the shield.

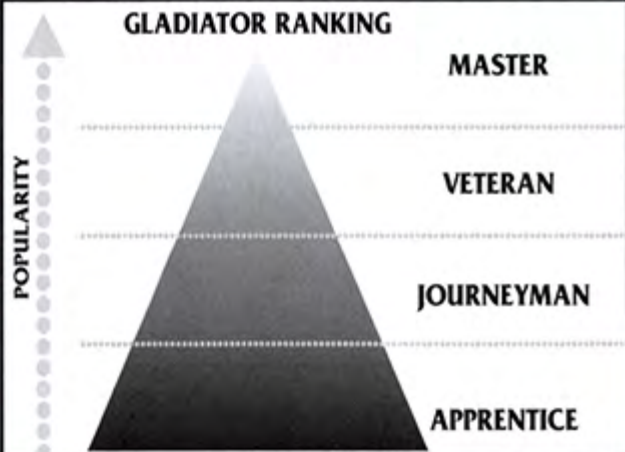

Striker Style

You have no weapons in striker style. You move the fastest with this style, but the risk of body damage increases, and your offense power is low.

Passive Skills

However, money will be deducted if the judgment is low. You can be judged by a variety of attacks. Try to take an action that will earn you a high evaluation and you will earn more money.

Attack Count

Counter

This evaluation is given when you make a successful counter strike. The number of counters is shown in red.

Dodging and Parrying

An evaluation given when you successfully dodge or parry. To get this, you must be aware of your surroundings, even in the middle of your own attack.

Killing Throw

An evaluation given when a weapon you throw sticks in your opponent's head. This is easier to achieve with a weakened opponent.

Forcing A Surrender

You receive a better evaluation if you can force an opponent to surrender. The chance of forcing a surrender increases if your opponent is injured or has a low fighting ability.

Avoiding Attack

This evaluation is given when you finish the bout without being hit. The key to this is being aware of what's going on around you.

Surrender

You can surrender and quit the battle by pressing the down directional button twice. Once you surrender, the battle is over and Caesar's evaluation begins (see illustration below). It may be a good idea, as a final option, to surrender and let Caesar decide if your life or die when you are badly injured and might die.

Caesar's Evaluation

Caesar's Evaluation happens when you surrender. The arena master judges the player, and decides whether to execute or spare the player with a hand signal. Caesar's Evaluation is affected by the popularity, and the flow of the battle.

Execution (During Duel Only)

If commanded to, execute an opponent by standing either in front or in back of him and tapping the L1 button. (Some weapons may not be used to execute an opponent.) Right before the execution, the view angle changes so that the player executes the opponent in a special atmosphere.

Punishment Mode - Battles Among Criminals

Punishment mode begins when you do something illegal, such as taking a weapon or attacking outside of the arena. The guards will then attack you. If you go above a certain level and lose consciousness or surrender, the criminals will begin battle. In the Battle of Criminals, you must defeat the executioners to be freed.

GLADIATOR INTRODUCTION

Gladiator Models

There are three gladiator models for the player to control. The model is decided by the place of origin selected during character creation.

Type A

Type C

Type B

Famous Gladiators

Flamma

Flamma is a professional gladiator from a family of knights. He is huge, and can defeat opponents with a single, overwhelming strike. Due to his quarrelsome nature, he starts a lot of trouble.

Nemesis

Nemesis is one of the few female gladiators, but she fights better than most men. She is especially good with a lance.

Sextus

Sextus is a prisoner captured from the Germanic Tribes. He chose to become a gladiator because of his sword-fighting skills. Sextus is very popular with the public because he draws battles out, creating a lot of excitement.

Other Famous Gladiators

There are other famous gladiators in addition to Flamma, Sextus and Nemesis. Meet these famous gladiators in one-to-one combat as the story unfolds.

Narcissus

Narcissus has lived as a slave since he was a child, when his village was completely destroyed by the Roman Army. He was kept for some time as a companion of a wealthy nobleman. But he managed to escape, and become a gladiator. He is automatically hostile toward gladiators who are acquainted with Marcia. He has a very impulsive nature.

Marcia the Mysterious

Marcia is Commodus's mistress. She often appears near the player and Narcissus, but no one knows her intentions. She may be conspiring to do something, but what...?

Commodus

Commodus is the true son of the wise and exalted Caesar Marcus. But unlike his father, he is a tyrant, indifferent to politics. He calls himself the "Incarnation of Hercules," and is preoccupied with battling other gladiators in the Colosseum.

This scene shows Commodus in his usual role as Caesar. He presides over the battles from the Imperial Viewing Platform, where he decides whether those who surrender will live or die.

This scene shows Commodus when he descends to the battlefield. He attacks gladiators by aggressively swinging two clubs.

BECOMING A HIGHLY-RANKED GLADIATOR

Distinguishing Equipment Strength

The same item might differ in strength depending on its color. Colors are Gray, White, Blue, and Yellow, with Gray being the lowest and Yellow the highest. Blue and Yellow weapons have certain effects.

Strengthen Your Items at the Blacksmith

Weapons can be upgraded by the weaponsmith at the Atillius Arena. Present him with your weapon and pay his fees and he will attempt to power up your weapon. Note that he is not always successful.

Guard Yourself

When you have equipment in your left hand, you can protect yourself from frontal attacks by pressing the [R1] button for a Guard pose. This is useful during the less protected One Sword/Small Shield Style of fighting.

Use the Skill Tablet

Skill tablets can be found in various situations, like after the battle with Memnon. Pick up tablets with the [L1] button. Remember to look around, as tablets can be found in the most unlikely places.

Money from the Audience

Pay attention to the spectators both inside and outside the arenas. They frequently throw things, and sometimes those things are worth picking up.

After the battle, take any valuable equipment left on the ground.

Strengthen your important equipment. Remember that yellow equipment cannot get stronger.

Remember that the player can guard himself from the opponent's attacks with protective devices, no matter what the player's position.

Dodge Attacks When Unprotected

Opponent's attacks can be dodged, even when you cannot move. Even when the opponent is pre-emptively or continuously attacking, the player can dodge these attacks, and look for ways to counterattack.

Surrender when Death is Imminent

The player may surrender at anytime during battle. If the gladiator has gained the crowds praise, there is the chance that he will be allowed to live on for at least another day.
