DOSSIERS

In Medal of Honor Rising Sun, you may encounter individuals who can help you to complete your missions.

Joseph Griffin

Name: Joseph Griffin

Rank: Corporal

Service: US Marines

Station: Honolulu

In your hometown of Mather, Pennsylvania, you were everybody's All-American. A star athlete in high school, you found it only natural that you would join the Marines the day after graduation. Seven years later, you are just as proud to serve your country. As tensions rose between the United States and Japan, you grew concerned that there may be a real war and that your younger brother Donnie may enlist. Although you tried to discourage him, Donnie signed up.

Universally liked by everyone in your squad, you are an asset to any platoon. Strong and brave, you are always ready for any assignment. Although you work well in teams, some of your superiors believe that your future lies in solo missions. There are plans in the works for you, Corporal Griffin.

Donnie Griffin

Name: Donnie Griffin

Rank: Private 1st Class

Service: US Marines

Station: Philippines

In Mather, Pennsylvania, Marines Private 1st Class Donnie Griffin was known as Joe Griffin's kid brother. Donnie was proud of brother Joe, but he yearned for the chance to prove himself. When a neighbor's house caught fire, it was thirteen year-old Donnie who kicked in the back door and pulled two children to safety. After that, no one called him "kid" anymore.

As a sophomore receiver on the high school football team, Donnie was named to the all-league team with his brother, a senior. When Joe graduated and joined the Marines, Donnie became the quarterback and led the team to two consecutive county titles. Ask him who his hero is, and he'll point to his brother. Ask him who is the better football player, and he'll point to the Waynesburg Central High record books.

Private 1st Class Donnie Griffin is attached to a demolition outfit based in the Philippines.

Phillip Bromley

Name: Phillip Andrew Bromley

Rank: Major

Service: British Special Operations Executive branch

Station: Singapore

Since the fall of Singapore to the Japanese, Major Phillip Bromley of the British Special Operations Executive branch has been organizing resistance from within the city of Singapore. Living in and moving through the catacombs beneath the city, he continues to sabotage Japanese interests and to courier people and information through Singapore.

It should be noted that Bromley remains angry at the British leadership that failed to prepare for the invasion even when he provided accurate information about the invaders. While some British commanders have threatened him with insubordination, more influential ones consider him a national hero.

Michael P. Floyd

Name: Michael Paul Floyd

Rank: Colonel

Service: Office of Strategic Services

Station: Honolulu

The fledgling Office of Strategic Services has few more competent operatives in the field than Colonel Michael P. Floyd. As Washington has struggled to build and integrate the new organization into the war effort, Colonel Floyd has been given considerable latitude in developing contacts in East Asia. A habitual planner, Colonel Floyd prepares diligently for any contingency.

While he is the ideal man for a small and growing organization, Colonel Floyd's focus on winning the battle can obscure his perspective on the overall war. This resourceful man from rural Montana can take care of himself.

Edmund Harrison

Name: Edmund Harrison

Rank: Lieutenant

Service: US Marines

Station: Honolulu

It takes a rare bird to enjoy working with explosives, and Lieutenant Harrison enjoys his work perhaps a little too much. More than one officer has wondered about the stability of this hyperactive soldier. He is both feared and respected by his squaddies for his willingness to do just about any demo job, no matter how dangerous or how crazy it is. His enthusiasm for explosives work has turned into expertise; few soldiers in the entire Pacific campaign know how to bring down a bridge or building like Lieutenant Harrison.

Jack "Gunny" Lauton

Name: Jack Lauton

Rank: Gunnery Sergeant

Service: US Marines

Station: Honolulu

A lifer in the Marines, Gunnery Sergeant Jack Lauton fought his way out of the steel mills of Pittsburgh and across the battlefields of Europe in the First World War. Twenty years and two Purple Hearts later, he's still a Sergeant and still taking names. Always tough on his troops, he is either loved or hated and always respected. A man of remarkable fortitude at 52, Gunny Lauton stays in the field because he knows nothing else. In combat, he prefers a shotgun.

Frank Spinelli

Name: Francis Giovanni Spinelli

Rank: Private 1st Class

Service: US Marines

Station: Honolulu

Francis Giovanni Spinelli was brought up in a vocal Italian family and has been scrapping to get himself heard ever since. Born in Newark, New Jersey, Spinelli used his mouth to get himself out of plenty of trouble in the neighborhood. A self-styled ladies man, he joined the military because he thought he'd look good in a uniform. Private Spinelli will tell you what a great soldier he is. Slowly, he is proving it.

Ichiro "Harry" Tanaka

Name: Ichiro "Harry" Tanaka

Rank: Private 1st Class

Service: Office of Strategic Services

Station: Singapore

Like many Japanese-Americans, Ichiro "Harry" Tanaka came under suspicion as the Empire of the Rising Sun began to rattle its sabers. Born to Japanese immigrants in Honolulu, Hawaii, Harry has never seen himself as anything but American. To avoid the looks and insults, he enlisted in the OSS.

Because of his fluency in Japanese, he has been hurried through training. Tanaka has been inserted into Singapore as a Japanese trader. Using his cover, he has been able to eavesdrop on sidewalk conversations among the occupying Japanese soldiers. Tanaka is also a trained pilot.

Silas Whitfield

Name: Silas Earl Whitfield

Rank: Private 1st Class

Service: US Marines

Station: Honolulu

If you can drop a raccoon from 75 yards with a pellet rifle, reckoned Silas Whitfield, why not try your hand at Japanese with a Springfield scope? Since joining the Marines Corps in the Spring of 1940, Whitfield has consistently rated Superior in all categories of marksmanship. Quiet to a fault and steady under fire, this young soldier has all of the makings of a top sniper. Born and raised in rural Kentucky, Whitfield can sometimes seem out of place on base at Pearl Harbor. Although a bit homesick, he is enjoying his tour of the Pacific so far.

PLAYING THE GAME

To succeed at your missions, you need to know your weapons, objectives, and controls—success comes from knowing more than just how to aim and shoot.

Game Screen

On the game screen, you should pay regular attention to the compass and health meter. Also, you should be aware of your weapon ammo levels.

From time to time, important text messages appear at the top of the screen.

Hidden Items

You can pick up hidden items to assist you in completing your mission. Hidden items could be almost anywhere—in dark corners, dilapidated buildings, wooden crates, etc.

When you find a hidden item such as a machete or an entrenching tool, look for places to use them.

- ⇒ Walk over an item to pick it up. A text message indicates that it's been added to your inventory.
- ⇒ After an item is collected, use the Action button to apply the item in the location where it is needed.

Allies

Depending on the mission, you may find yourself fighting alongside other Allied soldiers. In some cases, you are the mission leader, and you may receive vital information from them in the field. You should do whatever you can to protect them, so they can complete their assignments for the mission. They also can supply some much needed firepower to help you get past your enemies.

Compass and Health Meter

In addition to assisting in navigation, the compass can be a lifesaver.

When you are hit by enemy fire, a red flash appears in the quadrant of the compass from which the shot came. As you take damage, the ring around the compass shrinks, changing from green to red, until the ring and your health are gone.

Health

To restore health, look for the following items:

FOOD	Restores 10% of your total health.
MEDICINAL CANTEEN	Restores 25% of your total health.
MEDICAL KIT	Restores 50% of your total health.
FIELD SURGEON PACK	Restores 75% of your total health.

Weapons

In the lower-right corner of the game screen, you can see the remaining amount of ammo you're carrying for the selected weapon and the amount of ammo remaining in the loaded clip.

Pistols

Welrod

Rate of Fire: Single

Round Type: .32

Clip: 1

Muzzle Velocity: Classified

Invented: Classified

Only 2,800 of this single-shot pistol, known as the assassin's pistol, were manufactured, and its true performance characteristics remain classified. Equipped with a primitive silencer, its magazine separates from the barrel for easy concealment. The Welrod has an effective range of approximately 50 feet.

M1911 Pistol

Rate of Fire: Semi
Round Type: .45
Clip: 7
Muzzle Velocity: 830 ft/sec
Invented: 1911

An update of an earlier Browning design, this Colt semi-automatic pistol delivers a .45 caliber slug with great effect. Most of its working components are not exposed to the elements, which enhances its reliability in muddy or sandy conditions.

Rifles

Springfield '03 Rifle

Rate of Fire: Bolt
Round Type: .30-06
Clip: 5
Muzzle Velocity: 2,800 ft/sec
Invented: 1903

This bolt-action sniper rifle can deliver high-grain .30-06 rounds considerable distances to target. Without the scope, it is a simple bolt-action rifle and poorly suited for close quarters combat. At the beginning of the war, the US military was already phasing it out.

M1 Garand Semi-Automatic Rifle

Rate of Fire: Semi
Round Type: .30-06
Clip: 8
Muzzle Velocity: 2,800 ft/sec
Invented: 1936

The most common weapon among US infantrymen, this semi-automatic weapon fires a .30-06 slug at very high speeds. Easy to disassemble and service, the Garand can operate in battlefield conditions for a week without maintenance. Popular for its caliber, muzzle velocity, and semi-automatic capabilities, the Garand is superior to earlier, bolt-action rifles.

Sub-Machine Guns

Sten Mk II Silenced SMG

Rate of Fire: Auto

Round Type: 9mm

Clip: 20

Muzzle Velocity: 1,250 ft/sec

Invented: 1941

A cheap and efficient weapon, this British sub-machine gun features a removable barrel and a silencer. Manufactured of only 47 parts, it can be quickly disassembled and hidden, making it a favorite weapon of resistance groups in the war.

Thompson M1 SMG

Rate of Fire: Auto

Round Type: .45

Clip: 30

Muzzle Velocity: 920 ft/sec

Invented: 1920

In the aftermath of World War I, John T. Thompson began work on what he called, a "trench broom" to sweep and clear areas in close quarters. Thompson knew that the heavy slug of the M1911 .45 caliber pistol could have impressive effects in a fully automatic weapon. Reliable and tough, the Thompson SMG is a good weapon in muddy, dirty combat.

Light Machine Guns

Type 11 LMG

Rate of Fire: Auto

Round Type: 6.5mm

Clip: 30

Muzzle Velocity: 2,440 ft/sec

Invented: 1936

Based on a French design, this Japanese gas-powered machine gun uses six side-mounted clips of five rounds each. Such a mechanism naturally can cause jamming problems. The "Nambu Light" Type 11 was switched to a weaker round than previous versions, which improved its reliability.

Browning Automatic Rifle LMG

Rate of Fire: Auto

Round Type: .30

Clip: 20

Muzzle Velocity: 2,800 ft/sec

Invented: 1918

Originally designed in World War I as the M1918A1 model, the Browning Automatic Rifle (BAR) received praise for its reliability in tough environments. The BAR received high marks for its rate of fire and the penetration power of its .30-06 rounds. This is a comparatively light weapon which, along with its ammo, can be carried without difficulty.

Type 99 LMG

Rate of Fire: Auto

Round Type: 7.7mm

Clip: 30

Muzzle Velocity: 2,300 ft/sec

Invented: 1939

The Type 99 is superior in force and range to the Type 11 sub-machine gun. The side-mounted hopper is replaced by a single, top-mounted clip of 30 rounds. With less exposure to dust and grime, the firing mechanism is much more reliable.

Grenades

Type 97 Hand Grenade

Rate of Fire: 1

Round Type: Explosive

Clip: 1

Muzzle Velocity: N/A

Invented: 1937

The standard issue for the Japanese armed forces, this barrel-shaped grenade features a grooved iron casing. The top can be unscrewed to expose the firing mechanism and the explosive charge.

Shot Guns

Winchester 1893 Riot Shotgun

Rate of Fire: Pump

Round Type: 12-gauge shell

Clip: 8

Muzzle Velocity: N/A

Invented: 1893

The Winchester 1893 Pump Shotgun was designed by John Browning. This "riot" gun does much to stop the action in proximity of the shooter.

Bazooka

M9A1 Bazooka

Rate of Fire: Single

Round Type: 2.36" explosive shell

Clip: 1

Muzzle Velocity: 270 ft/sec

Invented: 1942

Named after an instrument invented by a musician, the M9A1 Bazooka first appeared among troops in 1942. A 2.36in rocket-powered projectile is inserted into the back end, and when the trigger is pressed, an electrical charge ignites its motor.

- ⇒ To man a gun emplacement, move next to the weapon and press the  button.

Mission Ratings

When you finish a mission, you receive a rating based on your Accuracy, Hits Taken, and Bonus Objectives completed. If you receive Gold Stars on all three, you are awarded a Mission Medal and receive a skeleton key (➤ below) for that level.

- ◇ To achieve a Gold Star rating for a level, you must meet that level's criteria for Accuracy, Hits Taken, and Bonus Objectives. The criteria differ from level to level.

Skeleton Key

Skeleton keys can unlock small red chests or doors. Once you earn a skeleton key in a level, replay that level and find the spot where you can use the key to unlock skins in Team Deathmatch mode (➤ Multiplayer Setup on p. 25).

- ◇ Each level has one hidden skin.

NAVY CROSS

The Navy Cross is awarded in recognition of extraordinary heroism in the presence of great danger and personal risk during combat operations.

This commendation is presented to a person who, while serving in any capacity with the United States Navy, distinguishes himself or herself by extraordinary heroism while engaged in an action against an enemy of the United States; while engaged in military operations involving conflict with an opposing/foreign force; or while serving with friendly foreign forces engaged in an armed conflict against an opposing Armed Force in which the United States is not a belligerent party.

Authorized by an act of Congress on February 4, 1919, the Navy Cross was initially recognized as the third highest award to U.S. Navy personnel for either distinguished service or combat heroism. In 1942, Congress made the Navy Cross a combat-only designation and elevated it to be second only to the Medal of Honor among Naval battlefield achievements. Despite the changes to the commendation and ribbons, the medal itself has remained a constant. Each one is struck from the same die and is of a three-part construction.

About the Congressional Medal of Honor Society

In 1946, the Congressional Medal of Honor Society (CMOHS) was formed to uphold the qualities of the Medal of Honor and to provide assistance to indigent recipients. Whether they became millionaires or laborers in peacetime, the CMOHS seeks to promote a brotherhood between recipients, for there are no "winners" of the Medal of Honor and no victories on the battlefield without brothers to protect. In so protecting, a number of recipients have given the ultimate gift to their brothers and their country. In their memory and those who have subsequently passed on, the CMOHS retains the record of their valiant actions. For living recipients, the CMOHS seeks to promote full and vibrant lives in peace for these living symbols of what it means to be an American. In times of duress, Americans need to look no further than the Congressional Medal of Honor Society for the values of valor, respect and honor across the spectrum of American backgrounds—the values that make this country great.

Electronic Arts is privileged to participate in the Society's continuing education and awareness efforts on behalf of the Congressional Medal of Honor and its recipients. You can learn more about the Society and the recipients at the Society website: www.cmoHS.org.
