Prologue

The tale I am about to tell concerns certain creatures that were used as runic weapons.

These beings were not of our world, but their bodies were replete with the Rune magic that built it.

It is for this reason that they came, at the hand of mankind, to be used as weapons.

The terrible power of these weapons struck terror throughout the land, but finally some rose up to strike down this evil.

My tale begins some seven years before the Island Nations and the Kooluk Empire went to war... with a minor incident in the back alley of a harbor town.

Characters

Corselia

She joins Kyril after a tragic encounter and dreams of traveling the world to see all that it has to offer. Though normally quiet and reserved, this little girl's fate may change the course of history.

Seneca

A mature, confident young woman traveling with Kyril. Seneca often acts like an older sister to him. Even when things look grim or sad, her reassuring presence and character help to lighten the mood.

Kyril

The game's hero. He has been traveling with his father from a very young age. Well-mannered, with a strong sense of justice, he is always compelled to help those in need. He expertly handles a heavy twin-bladed staff.

Andarc

A young man traveling with Kyril. Because of his overly prim and proper nature, his friends sometimes tease him—but all in good fun. Both Andarc and Seneca are followers of Walter.

Yohn

Her past shrouded in mystery, Yohn follows Kyril ever so closely. Yohn has the ability to hear the passing thoughts of the recently departed and can communicate these thoughts to others.

Game Flow

Throughout the course of the adventure, the player will encounter various “story events,” travel across the “world map,” explore several “towns,” make preparations in the “caravan,” and of course engage in many “battles.”

Battles

Battles basically proceed in the following manner:

Victory/Defeat Conditions > Unit Selection > Battle > Results

**Note: There are some instances where unit selection or results do not apply.*

Characters that are selected for battle are referred to as units.

Select “Member List” to choose your units. When the battle begins, the units take action, one by one, based on their turn order. This turn order can be viewed on the top right of the battle screen.

When it is time for a player’s unit to take action, orders can be given to that unit. The battle will end when the victory conditions are met and the results are displayed.

If the battle is lost

If the player loses the battle, there will be an option to give up or continue. If the player decides to give up, the game will exit to the Title Menu. If the player decides to continue, experience points gained in battle will be retained, but everything else will be reset.

**Any items used or found in battle will return to their pre-battle status.*

**If the player selects “Retry” from the System Menu, everything—including experience points gained in the current battle—will return to their pre-battle status.*

Friends, Enemies, and Neutral units

During battle, if the Unit Identification option is set to ON, different colors will be used to differentiate between friendly units, enemy units, and neutral units. The turn order list will also display a unit’s color.

	Friendly Units (Blue) Units that the player can give orders to.
	Enemy Units (Red) Units that will attack the player and neutral units.
	Allies and neutral units (Green) Allied units that the player cannot give orders to.
	Treasure, Rocks and others Some objects can be destroyed by reducing their HP to zero. Items may be contained within. *Destroyable treasure chests and rocks will not have shadows.

Victory and Defeat Conditions

This information will be displayed at the beginning of a battle and can also be viewed by selecting "Strategy Info" in the System Menu.

Member List

By selecting "Member List," you will be able to choose which units go into battle, where their starting locations are, what kind of equipment they have, and which skills they currently possess. As the story progresses, mounted units can also be adjusted.

**There may be situations where changes cannot be made to units.*

Once "Start Battle" is selected, the battle will commence.

Basic Commands

Move	Move unit.
Attack	Attack with unit.
Rune	Use magic or abilities associated with a Rune.
Item	Use equipped items.
Status	View unit information. This command can be used at any time.
Stand By	End the current unit's turn.

Special Commands

**Commands that are available in specific situations*

Switch	Switch out a current unit for a unit that has not yet been deployed in battle. Once a unit has been switched out, it cannot be put back into battle.
Mount/Dismount	Mount and dismount from creatures.
Cooperative Attack	Use cooperative attacks that have been learned.
Talk	Converse with a specific character.

System Menu (Press START button during battle)

Strategy Info	View victory and defeat conditions.
Quick Save	Create a quick save. To restart from this quick save, choose "Continue" from the Title Menu.
Retry	Reset all parameters and start the battle over.
Options	Change system options to your liking.
Help	Read helpful tutorials on game mechanics.

Units

Unit Development:

Units will grow stronger as they level up. Units gain experience points as they attack or use items. When a unit gains 1000 experience points, that unit will level up.

Learning and Equipping Skills:

A "skill" is a special ability that a unit may possess.

Skill points can be used to learn various skills

(see page 14). Once skills are learned, they can then be leveled up. Each unit can equip a set amount of skills.

Skills can really come in handy in battle. Try out various skills to see which skills work best for you. Skills can be equipped on the Member List menu at the start of battle.

Withdraw and Death:

When a unit's HP falls to 0, they will be removed from battle, and either withdraw or die. If a unit withdraws, that character will be available again after the battle, but a character that dies will be gone for the remainder of the game.

Runes

Runes can be equipped by a Rune Master in town. By equipping Runes, powerful magic and abilities will become available. Some Runes enhance character attributes or offer other effects to the unit.

Cooperative Attacks

At times during the course of a battle, specific units will be able to "talk" to each other, and the result may be that they learn a cooperative attack. Cooperative attacks can then be executed when all participating units are positioned in the proper alignment. When these conditions are met, the "Coop. Attack" command will be selectable in battle.

Speech Balloon System

During battle, speech balloons will sometimes appear over a unit's head. These speech balloons quickly indicate a unit's current status.

	Opening	An enemy that cannot counterattack is within range.
	Face-Off	If attacked, this unit may counterattack.
	Danger	A counterattack is not possible.
	Dying	If attacked, this unit's HP may fall to 0.
	Can talk	It is possible to "Talk" with this unit.
	Heal me!	This unit is low on health.
	+ Affinity	This unit is on its +Affinity element. Stats will be increased when standing here.
	- Affinity	This unit is on its -Affinity element. Stats will be reduced when standing here.

Terrain Elements

Terrain on the battlefield can be associated with 5 different elements or neutral ground. These are called "terrain elements." Terrain elements can change through the use of magic, items, or abilities.

Each unit has a positive or negative affinity towards the elements that will enhance or reduce the unit's attributes.

* < < < < <

Fire is weak against Water, Water is weak against Lightning, and so on.

*You can check which element is associated with each unit on the character information screen or by cycling through the turn order list.

Support Actions

If a unit's Good Will level (which is hidden) rises with another unit, that unit may protect or assist the other unit if nearby.

Protect

Units with mutual Good Will may be able to protect each other if attacked. Protected units take only half the damage.

Assist

Mutual Good Will also allows units to assist each other when a friend attacks. Up to three units can join in on an assist. The more units helping, the more damage they do.

The probability and affected area of Support Actions increase with Good Will. Use the "Talk" command to increase Good Will between units.
