Important Health Warning About Playing Video Games

Photosensitive seizures

A very small percentage of people may experience a seizure when exposed to certain visual images, including flashing lights or patterns that may appear in video games. Even people who have no history of seizures or epilepsy may have an undiagnosed condition that can cause these "photosensitive epileptic seizures" while watching video games.

These seizures may have a variety of symptoms, including lightheadedness, altered vision, eye or face twitching, jerking or shaking of arms or legs, disorientation, confusion, or momentary loss of awareness. Seizures may also cause loss of consciousness or convulsions that can lead to injury from falling down or striking nearby objects.

Immediately stop playing and consult a doctor if you experience any of these symptoms. Parents should watch for or ask their children about the above symptoms—children and teenagers are more likely than adults to experience these seizures. The risk of photosensitive epileptic seizures may be reduced by taking the following precautions: Sit farther from the screen; use a smaller screen; play in a well-lit room; do not play when you are drowsy or fatiqued.

If you or any of your relatives have a history of seizures or epilepsy, consult a doctor before playing.

GAMEPLAY TIPS

Aiming - If you shoot from the hip without aiming, your character maintains regular movement speed and maneuverability, but weapon accuracy is limited. If you aim by holding the Left Trigger the camera zooms in and accuracy is increased at the cost of movement speed.

Switching Characters (Story Mode) – Select between Brian and Stewie by pressing the D-Pad Up or choose a weapon from the weapon wheel and the appropriate character will jump on the screen.

Money - You will receive money each time an enemy is neutralized. Common enemies give a small amount of money, while larger enemies give more money. Some enemies will drop extra money that can be picked up. Money can also be found hidden throughout levels. Collect enough money to unlock upgrades, costumes, and other items!

Health - You take damage in the game when Brian and Stewie are hit or shot by enemies. Health pickups are located throughout each level and are occasionally dropped by enemies. These pickups can be collected for an immediate health boost.

Ammunition - You must periodically collect ammunition in order to continue using ranged weapons.

Special Abilities – Each character has a special ability that can be selected like a special item and used to help you take down enemies or escape unscathed. Abilities need to recharge before they can be used again.

Special Items - Throughout the Multiverse, you will discover various items that can be deployed to assist in your fight against Bertram's forces. There are 7 different items: Joe Swanson, Giant Chicken, Health Pack, Ipecac, Wacky Waving Inflatable Arm-Flailing Tube Man, Rupert-In-The-Box. and the Boom Bear.
