Important Health Warning: Photosensitive Seizures

A very small percentage of people may experience a seizure when exposed to certain visual images, including flashing lights or patterns that may appear in video games. Even people with no history of seizures or epilepsy may have an undiagnosed condition that can cause "photosensitive epileptic seizures" while watching video games. Symptoms can include light-headedness, altered vision, eye or face twitching, jerking or shaking of arms or legs, disorientation, confusion, momentary loss of awareness, and loss of consciousness or convulsions that can lead to injury from falling down or striking nearby objects. Immediately stop playing and consult a doctor if you experience any of these symptoms. Parents, watch for or ask children about these symptoms—children and teenagers are more likely to experience these seizures. The risk may be reduced by being farther from the screen; using a smaller screen; playing in a well-lit room, and not playing when drowsy or fatigued. If you or any relatives have a history of seizures or epilepsy. consult a doctor before playing.

TIPS

- When a character's Health Bar is empty, another character can revive them by standing near the downed character.
- You don't have to break open every chest you see immediately, save them. You can always backtrack if you need more Health.
- No time to look at your Power Meter...The Characters will tell you when they are ready to use their Super Power, just listen for it.
- Are there a lot of enemies nearby? You can perform a Ground Slam multiple times in a row to keep the mayhem going.
- Boss Battles have you down? If their eye is open, shoot.
